

Back to the basics

The resurgence of Pitt basketball was built on defense. With a relatively new team this season, it's something the Panthers will have to re-emphasize. A look at how the defensive numbers have been on the increase since early in the decade (with Big East rank):

